

Re-Elect DENNIS MARSDEN

FOR COQUITLAM CITY COUNCIL 2018

For Immediate Release

September 6, 2018

COQUITLAM, BC – Today, Dennis Marsden, Councillor for the City of Coquitlam, has announced his intention to seek a second term in office.

"I love this city and am proud to call it my home for the past 40 years. My first term I set out to advance fiscal responsibility and neighbourhood safety and working with my colleagues achieved many successes, including the improved investment management, traffic control and most importantly the finalization of a Housing Affordability Strategy that is beginning to show very positive results."

"Rapid changes in our community mean a lot more work remains to be done to ensure our quality of life. I want to continue serving the people of Coquitlam and advance the vision that will see us living in a vibrant, complete city, one in which a resident can live safely, find work without commuting, play on our courts and fields and entertain family and friends in our parks."

Using his 25 years-experience in business and finance, Marsden knows that services and amenities that provide for our quality of life need a sustainable financial framework that respects taxpayers of our growing city.

"One of the largest challenges facing us today will be managing the growth of the city, this includes affordable housing, amenities, roads and ensuring we keep our residents safe."

A full platform will be released on his website www.dennismarsden.com in the coming days.
